YOU READ the report deciding how many billions Germany must pay and how she ought to get the money. And, seeing at the bottom of that report the name of a respectable Chicago banker, Mr. Dawes, you ask yourself with Moliere's famous character:

Que diable allait il faire dans cette galere?

Which may be translated, "What the devil is he doing there?"

WHAT HAS the United States to do with deciding what Germany shall pay, how many billions France and others shall get? It wasn't our war. It isn't our funeral, or, our celebration, and we don't get the money.

Somebody ought to tell Uncle Sam that story about the man that got rich "by minding his own business."

SOME ENTHUSIASTS out West, stimulated by large pocketbooks, have indicted Senator Wheeler, trying to discourage his able investigation. By this time they probably regret it, for the Senate is going to investigate them, and find out just what and who are behind the indictment.

WASHINGTON KNOWS that when Senator Wheeler entered public life in Montana he found two political parties out there, one called Republican, one called Democratic, both owned by copper mines.

When he ventured to oppose the copper capitalists he was informed that he would be run out of Montana. But he had other plans, got himself elected to the Senate of the United States, and now the people are hearing from him.

Even the fattest pocketbook ought to realize that this is no time for financial "rough stuff."

GENTLEMEN SELLING cotton "short," recently have discovered that the United States and its products are good things to buy, not so good things to sell short.

Australia is coming along rapidly as a cotton producer, and soon her cotton crop will equal her wool crop in value. But, unfortunately, the boll weevil is an industrious insect that helps prices, and all the cotton this country can produce for many a year is needed to clothe the naked and half naked in Europe. That also helps prices.

You may be foolish enough to believe in bad times, but don't be foolish enough to bet on them.

MEN MUST do something foolish, and the best that you can pray for is that the "something" selected will not be as bad as it might be.

You learn that the Chinese smoke more cigarettes every day, especially American brands, producing now thirty-six thousand million cigarettes against sixty-six billion produced in the United States. You say to yourself, "Cigarettes are not very nourishing, perhaps, but while they are smoking cigarettes our Chinese brothers are not smoking opium."

IF THE United States with 110,000,000 population produces sixty-six billion cigarettes a year, how many will China soon produce and use with 500,000,000 population?

Mr. Percival S. Hill probably figures that out, instead of counting sheep jumping over a fence.

Refuses to Go to Ohio With Wheeler After a Clash in Daugherty Committee

Washington, April 10.—Senator William E. Borah of Idaho was named today as chairman of the special Senate committee which will investigate the circumstances surrounding the indictment by a Montana grand jury of Senator Burton K. Wheeler of that State. Other members of the committee are Senators McLean, Connecticut, and Sterling, South Dakota, Republicans, and Swanson, Virginia, and Caraway, Arkansas, Democrats.

Washington, April 10.—In executive session, the Senate Daugherty committee decided today to speed up its investigation of the books of the Midland Bank at Washington Court House, Ohio.

Senator Wheeler, the committee prosecutor, will leave for Ohio tonight to begin the work.

Senator Moses of New Hampshire, who was named as a sub-committee member to make the Ohio inquiry with Wheeler, vigorously opposed the prosecutor's plans and later withdrew from the sub-committee, Chairman Brookhart taking his place.

The meeting of the committee today behind closed doors is said to have developed some heated passages among members as to the best method of procedure.

Senator Moses' withdrawal from the sub-committee followed an argument, and some serious differences of opinion that have developed in the committee came openly to the surface for the first time.

Senator Moses said afterward h.s objection to making the trip to Ohio was based only on his personal engagements and pending Senate business.

The committee has been seeking several weeks to get access to the books of the Midland Bank, of which M. S. Daugherty, a brother of former Attorney-General, is president.

At first the records were suppoenaed, but the bank replied it would be impossible to send them to Washington. Then a special ex-

Petting in Autos Is Outlawed by New York Vote

Albany, April 10.—The Kirkland anti-petting party bill was passed in the Assembly.

The bill would prohibit automobiles from parking along highways at night unless the road was at least sixteen feet wide.

Assemblyman Kirkland said he introduced the bill because he was convinced many accidents were caused by the petting party cars which park nightly along all roads.

FATHER OF 4 ENDS LIFE

Leaving his four small children dressing for school and play, James F. Cuffe of No. 195 Bradford street, Everett, today walked to his work in the shipping room of a nearby factory, calmly drew a revolver and sent a bullet crashing into his head.

He was dead when his fellow-workmen in the same room reached his side. Attracted by the shot, other employes in the Dangel Manufacturing Company plant ran to the shipping department where they found the shippers trying first aid.

Cuffe has been in ill health, unable to sleep well and suffering from melancholia for several months, his fellow-employes said.

The police ambulance was summoned in the hope that at the hospital some life might be found in the body, but the police took a look and called Medical Examiner Thomas M. Durrell of Somerville, who pronounced Cuffe dead.

The bullet entered his head just back of the right ear. Death was instantaneous. Cuffe's wife was notified.

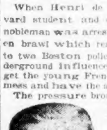
PROBE OF HARVARD RIOTERS

Police Commissioner to See What "Influence" Castellane Possesses to "Hush it Up"

An investigation to determine how much influence the French nobility exerts over the Boston police department has been ordered by Police Commissioner Herbert A. Wilson.

When Henri de Castellane, Harvard student and son of a French nobleman was arrested after a drunken brawl which resulted in injuries to two Boston policemen, strong underground influences were exerted to get the young Frenchman out of the mess and have the affair hushed up.

The pressure brought to bear was even powerful enough to reach the two injured policemen and when these facts were brought to the attention of Commissioner Wilson he ordered the investigation.



Henri de Castellane

At the time of his arrest, Castellane, whom police say was much the worse for liquor, referred to the policemen as "American Bulldogs." He also declared emphatically that "You can't touch me. I'm the son of a French nobleman."

The trouble started on Hanover street when a party, of which Castellane was a member, broke a window in a hotel ratskeller. The members of the party were scrambling into an automobile when Patrolman Lawrence Boyle appeared.

KNOCKED UNCONSCIOUS.

In the melee, during which the policeman tried to pull the scion of nobility from the automobile, the officer was thrown against a show-case and was rendered unconscious.

Patrolman Joseph Gallati, one of the rescuing party, was badly injured by a kick in the abdomen, said to have been inflicted by Castellane during the ride to the police station. When Commissioner Wilson and Superintendent of Police Michael H. Crowley learned of the affair they directed that warrants be secured charging Castellane with assault and battery on police officers.

The warrants were secured and Castellane was allowed to go on his recognizance for a hearing at a further date. When Police Commissioner Wilson heard that pressure was being brought to bear on the two policemen who were injured, however, he decided to uncover the entire affair.

Castellane is a resident on the "Gold Coast" at Harvard. He is also the nephew of Count Boni de Castellane, former husband of Anna Gould.

POLICE ARE RUSHED TO DOVER, N.H.

Men From Nashua and Lawrence Sent There After Strike Trouble Occurs

Dover, N. H., April 10.—Police from Nashua and Haverhill, Mass., aided the local force today in patroling the business section as a result of a strike disturbance last night which resulted in four arrests. Among those arrested was Bert Emsley, organizer of the One Big Union.

The arrests followed refusal of a crowd of Pacific Mill strike sympathizers who had been picketing the home of H. A. Sawtell, mill agent, to disperse.

In court today the cases of the four men arrested were continued until tomorrow. Arrangements were made to release them on bail.

The Dover branch of the Pacific Mills, which has its main plant in Lawrence, Mass., and is one of the largest textile manufacturing concerns in New England, normally employs about 1,200 operatives.

A strike was called in November last after the management had announced a rearrangement of working conditions which the operatives claimed imposed additional work on the weavers without any increase in

CALL OUTSIDE POLICE

The mills have been shut down since that time except for one attempt to reopen, when the operatives refused to return because outside help had been brought in for some of the work.

Numerous conferences have been held in an effort to adjust the dispute, but no agreement has been reached.

At the time the strike started some of the employes were members of the United Textile Workers of America. Soon afterward Emsley came here from Lawrence and began the organizing of a branch of the One Big Union. A number of his followers during the last week have been soliciting in front of Agent Newton's home each morning and evening.

KEEP CROWDS MOVING

Last night the crowd gathered there was so noisy that the police intervened. When their order to disperse was ignored they arrested

Mrs. Bradstreet, Suing Husband's Rich Employer, Tells of Suicide Attempt

Harry S. Bradstreet, Bay State road broker, led the "life of Riley" while in the employ of Mrs. Alice F. Wallace, millionaire widow of New Hampshire.

Bradstreet, on the stand today in Suffolk Superior Court, in his wife's $250,000 alienation of affections suit against Mrs. Wallace, told in detail of the life he had to lead with his wealthy employer.

Among other things, Bradstreet enjoyed the following:

Received $40,000 pay since 1920.

Took long automobile trips through New York State, to Canada, Niagara Falls, through Maine, etc., with Mrs. Wallace. She paid all the bills.

Played golf on Sunday mornings with Mrs. Wallace at York Beach, Me., and at Rochester, N. H.

Motored to Niagara Falls, Lake Placid, Lake George and other resorts, with Mrs. Wallace signing the checks.

IN SAME HOTEL.

Bradstreet testified that while he was playing golf with Mrs. Wallace on Sunday mornings he didn't think his wife was alone—in fact, he hoped that she was in church at the time.

Questioned about the nature of the business in which he was engaged with Mrs. Wallace on the Sunday mornings in question, Mr. Bradstreet testified that the business consisted of going over bills, checking up accounts, etc.

He could not recall whether the business was transacted before or after the golf games, but did recall that some of the business was transacted in Mrs. Wallace's sporting room and at other times it was conducted in her office.

Bradstreet said that at present he

WHEELER MOVES TO SHOW G. O. P. WAS BEHIND HIS INDICTMENT

EVIDENCE DUG UP BY THREE OF BURNS' SLEUTHS

amine was sent to Washington Court House. A controversy arose as to the scope of his inquiries into the business of the bank, with the result that his investigation has been suspended.

INVOLVES G. O. P.

Partial substantiation of Senator Wheeler's charges that the Republican National Committee had a hand in his indictment at Great Falls, Mont., was obtained today by the committee.

From Arthur Lamblin, a telephone company official, and William J. Burns, chief of the Bureau of Investigation of the Department of Justice, the committee learned that George H. Lockwood, secretary of the National Republican Committee, has been in communication with a special investigator at Great Falls working on the Wheeler case.

Lamblin, after a formal protest, was allowed to testify that Lockwood called Blair Cohen at the Rainbow Hotel in Great Falls and talked with him for two and one-half minutes.

The committee then put on Burns and questioned him about the work of the department in investigating the Montana charges against Senator Wheeler.

Burns testified that three of his men had worked in Montana on the Wheeler case.

"Who ordered you to send these men out?" Wheeler asked.

"Nobody. I sent them out," said Burns. "The Postoffice Department asked for them."

TOLD DAUGHERTY.

Burns also said he had reported to Daugherty that "you (Senator Wheeler) were attorney for the Gordon-Campbell concern." The conversation took place at Daugherty's apartment, Burns said, but added he would have to look it up and see whether it was before or after Daugherty left office as Attorney General.

The investigation of the Gordon-Campbell Company was started by "Mr. Cunningham" of the Postoffice Department, the witness said, adding that Cunningham was now on his way to Washington from Great Falls.

Blair Cohen, Burns said, was not employed by the Department of Justice, but worked for the Republican National Committee.

The witness said he did not know Lockwood and Daugherty were close friends, but had seen the two men together in Daugherty's apartment.

Burns was talking with Daugherty about this hearing here," he said, when the Campbell matter came up.

"He wanted to get something on Wheeler," Chairman Brookhart suggested.

"He didn't say so," Burns replied. "Then you immediately sent three men there?" Chairman Brookhart went on.

"No, no, we sent the first man out there three or four weeks ago, when the Postoffice Department asked for it."

"As soon as this investigation got under way?" Senator Wheeler put in.

"You and Daugherty have discussed this investigation a great deal, and he's sought your help?" Senator Wheeler asked.

"We've talked of it—I wouldn't say helped," Burns concluded.

Sen. George H. Moses

Sen. B. K. Wheeler

When the doors were opened the committee resumed its inquiry into the Miller brothers land fraud case in Oklahoma, placing on the stand George L. Miller, one of those who received and still hold a large grant of Indian lands once a part of the 101 ranch.

"You pleaded guilty to the charge of defrauding the Indians of these lands?" demanded Senator Wheeler.

"Yes, sir, but with an understanding that there would be a fine," said Miller.

HIRED TODD.

Miller denied that his "understanding" was with "the Attorney-General's office," and said that when he employed John Todd as his lawyer he did not know that Todd was a former law partner of Harry M. Daugherty.

Hammering the witness with questions, Senator Wheeler asked if he had not been willing to "pay any price" to get the papers to the attention of Daugherty.

"I was willing to pay any price for a square deal," Miller shouted.

He also denied he had ever paid J. J. McGraw any money for the Republican National Committee.

"I am a Democrat," he said.

"Yes, we know the kind of Democrat you are," replied Senator Wheeler.

PAID $7,500 FINE.

Going into the transaction in detail, he told the committee he had paid Indians "a consideration of $80,-225" for 3,621 acres of land.

He declared he had expected a $500 fine when he agreed to plead guilty on advice of his attorneys, "but it was $7,500."

Miller was allowed to go ahead with a part of his prepared statement in which he declared that testimony given before the committee charging fraud by him against the Indians in acquiring land was "malicious, misleading and untrue."

He had read only a few lines when Senator Wheeler broke in to question him.

Todd had written him that he could not further represent him, Mr. Miller said, but the letter could not be found.

"My files are continually being robbed," he said.

"Isn't it a fact you made th statement to people in Oklahoma that you hired Todd to influence Daugherty?" Senator Wheeler asked.

"I don't remember making any such statement and I don't believe I did," said Miller.

Senator Wheeler asked the witness to produce "every letter that passed between you and Todd." But Miller would only agree to do that after he had "looked 'em over."

Miller said he felt that the "influence working against him" in Washington was Senator Harreld.

"And you wanted somebody to offset that influence, and McCaskey said Todd had that influence?" said Wheeler.

"I cannot say he told me that."

SUE FOR TITLE.

The witness declared that if the government did not press civil suits in the land cases he would bring suit himself "to acquire title."

"Didn't you have McGraw telephone to Senator Harreld asking if it wasn't all right with him that you plead guilty and only pay a fine of $10,000?" asked Wheeler.

"Whatever McGraw did, he did on his own account," Miller responded.

Former United States Attorney H. M. Peck, who prosecuted the case against him, Miller said, "is my bitterest enemy," and used evidence that was "not right." He had sought to "get in touch with Peck" through Scott Ferris, a former representative in Oklahoma, Miller said, adding, "it was the worst mistake I ever made."

Miller said he was "absolutely sure" Ferris was "going to be Senator." Asked about his subsequent employment of former Senator Gore of Oklahoma, the witness said:

"I employed them all."

Peck and Gore were close friends, he said, and he retained Gore after he knew Peck would be the prosecutor in the Miller cases.

The witness charged that Peck had suppressed the Cox and Rankin report which showed there was no ground for an indictment.

(Follow developments in the Daugherty investigation in the Boston American.)

Dawes Plan Wins Praise in Press of Many Countries

Statesmen in all the great world capitals were engaged today in a study of the Dawes reparations plan.

The plan has been received with "friendly irresolution," to judge from press comment, although the bulk of this comment favors it as the one real road to a satisfactory settlement.

Some of the French newspapers were sharply critical of points in the report. German papers regarded the report as a satisfactory basis of further discussion.

The British and American press was favorable.

REFUSED FOR 2 YEARS TO PRESS POWDER SUIT

Irregularities Involving Millions in Old Hickory Powder Plant, Witness Charges

Washington, April 1.—The Department of Justice has refused for two years to prosecute war fraud charges against the Old Hickory Powder Company, a Nashville, Tenn., concern owned by the du Pont interests, A. V. McLane, United States District Attorney in Tennessee, charged today at the Daugherty investigation.

A local investigation, McLane said, had "revealed irregularities, if not actual frauds, involving millions of dollars."

McLane, in whose district the company's plant is located, declared he had made nineteen visits to Washington to urge that the department bring war fraud prosecutions against the company.

It was the opinion of government experts that a recovery of "from $5,000,000 to $15,000,000" should be made, he said, from the Dupont Company, which had the Old Hickory contract.

UNFRIENDLY ATTITUDE.

"There has never been an investigation of the Old Hickory case up to this time," McLane declared.

McLane corroborated the statements of George Storck, Department of Justice accountant, who made a survey of the case, that Dupont lawyers were furnished by the War Reckoner Board with a "questionnaire" on the case for "explanation."

The witness also produced letters exchanged with Special Assistant Attorney General R. H. Williams, which he said showed an "unfriendly" attitude on Williams' part toward prosecution of the case.

A letter to McLane from Williams in March, 1924, said that most of the rumors of fraud had grown out of "misunderstanding" of the government's contract with the du Ponts. The attitude of Major-General C. C. Williams, chief of ordnance in the War Department, McLane declared, "was entirely hostile to any investigation."

BETWEEN THE LINES.

"Major-General Williams, chief of ordnance, was rather insulting to the Department of Justice people," McLane said, "and to anybody who appeared to have the purpose of showing wrongdoing against the du Pont people."

"Your reports were ignored or lost?" Chairman Brookhart put in.

"I will make no statement about that," McLane said, but added that he "could read between the lines."

"INDICATES FRAUD."

McLane urged the committee to "look into the making of this contract." It granted powers not contained in any other war contract, he said, and the making of it was most to be criticised. He urged the committee to see who made it, and what the "object and motives" in it were.

The statute of limitation, he said, would prevent criminal prosecutions in the Old Hickory case after next November. He had pressed for prosecution "on that idea," he said.

"If I was to make a recommendation in this whole matter," McLane went on, "it would be against the man who made the original contract with the du Ponts. The contract indicates fraud, to my mind."

On cross-examination by Daugherty counsel, McLane said he had felt the cause of delay in the Old Hickory cases "was in the War Department." He had been informed by the Department of Justice today, he said, that it had both the criminal and civil ends of the case in hand.

McLane said he had heard "offcially" that the Department of Justice sought to find out how the Storck report came to be given to the du Pont lawyers.

Assistant Attorney-General Hoyland was "very much disturbed," both because the du Pont lawyers had the report and because it was printed in a Nashville paper, resulting in a suit against the paper by the du Ponts.

Emsley and three other men and took them to the police station.

The crowd followed. While a conference was held on the question of releasing the men on bail the disturbance in front of the police station became so pronounced that the police decided as a precautionary measure to call for help from outside in the fear that there might be more serious trouble when the men were taken into court today.

The augmented police force prevented any gathering on the streets today and, while much excitement prevailed, there was no disorder.

COOLIDGE ACCEPTS BID TO VISIT BOSTON

DANCING GIRL SCANDAL LAID BEFORE JURY

Affidavits Bare Inside Story of Gay Party Held by Asbury Park Officials

Asbury Park, N. J., April 10.—Three affidavits charging that liquor flowed freely and that dancing girls gave improper exhibitions at a dinner attended by Mayor Hettrick, other city officials and business men two weeks ago, were presented to the Monmouth County grand jury today for investigation.

Another charge of perjury is to be brought against Walter C. Tindall, member of the Civic Church League, today. Tindall is under bond to appear before the Grand Jury to testify after his arrest on four charges of perjury brought by business men who were named in his affidavit as having attended the dinner.

Discussion of a movement to recall Mayor Hettrick was made at a secret meeting of the Civic Church League, but no information as to the action taken at the meeting has been made public.

WOMAN'S RECORD GETS HER IN JAIL

The police record of Mary Turcitte of No. 4 Acton street, South End, landed her in jail today.

When she received a month's sentence in Municipal Court on a liquor charge, she appealed. The court authorities looked up her record and found that she had been arrested before and that a suspended sentence of a month was hanging over her.

She was sent to jail on the suspended sentence, while the latest charge will go before the Superior Court.

Kearney said he visited a relative at a Roxbury hospital and left his car outside. Kelley, he claims, started the auto, and Kearney, after a short sprint, grasped the rear end. The case was continued.

GRIEF KILLS THE FORMER HUSBAND OF SONGBIRD, GALLI-CURCI

DIVORCE SUIT SHATTERS HEALTH OF MAN FAMOUS OPERA SINGER DISCARDED

New York, April 10.—Luigi Curci, Marquise of Simari and the first husband of Mme. Amelita Galli-Curci, the singer, has passed away at Rome, Italy, it was announced in a cable dispatch received by his brother, Gennaro M. Curci, of No. 25 West Eighty-sixth street.

Signor Curci was only 59 years old and friends and relatives here said that grief over his being divorced by the singer in 1920 had shattered his health.

"Naturally the divorce was a great shock for Signor Curci," said his brother, "and he could not seem to forget his great love for the woman who had been his wife. They spent eleven happy years of married life and for some time previous to his last illness he had been engaged in writing an account of those happy years."

Mme. Galli-Curci, whose success in this country was spectacular after she took musical New York by storm, was married to Signor Curci in Rome in 1908. They lived together until August, 1918, during which time, as she has testified at her divorce proceedings, she always treated him "kindly and affectionately."

An answer to Mme. Curci's charges of cruelty and infidelity, which Signor Curci had filed before the divorce, was withdrawn at the last minute by his attorney. He had contested the proceedings for divorce, he said, in the hope that he might win back his wife's affection.

The singer's first public act after getting her divorce was to take out American citizenship papers. In January, 1921, she was married to Homer Samuels, her former pianist, at the home of Mr. Samuel's parents in Minneapolis, Minn.

FOURTH STUDENT IN AUTO CRASH MAY DIE

Hartford, Ct., April 10.—John McGarry, Providence College sophomore, who with nine other undergraduates of the college, was badly injured Tuesday in an automobile collision on the Connecticut Boulevard, was still in a critical condition at Hartford Hospital today.

Three of the young men were killed and the others, with the exception of McGarry and Leontine Cummings of Fall River, Mass., have recovered sufficiently to return to their homes.

NEVER FORGOT LOVE FOR GREAT SINGER

MME. GALLI-CURCI

The man she divorced after eleven years of happy married life, died of grief, the friends of Signor Galli say. She married her former pianist soon after her divorce was granted.

GIRL LURED ON TRAIN, LOCKED IN ROOM

Mary Evans of Lewiston, Me., Rescued by Police From North Square Dwelling

Twenty-year-old Mary Evans, bare-eyed and pretty, tired of life in Lewiston, Me., longed to see life in a big city, so she took a train for Boston.

A young woman on the train offered her home to Mary until she could find work.

Mary accompanied the woman to North square. She was given a room on the sixth floor. Tired and exhausted, she fell asleep. She awoke this morning to find the door locked.

Tapping on a windowpane, Mary attracted the attention of passersby. Police were notified and Sergeant Hoy and Special Officer Sunney rescued Mary.

While the policemen were in the room a man, who said he was "Pete Rigos," entered the girl's room with food. He said he "had been sent there by another man." He was not detained.

Meanwhile, police are searching for the kind-hearted woman, and Mary is speeding to her home in Lewiston, perhaps tired of the "big city."

STINNES DYING OF DOUBLE PNEUMONIA

Berlin, April 10 (I.N.S.)—Hugo Stinnes, Germany's foremost industrial magnate and financier, who has been ill for several months, was reported dying this afternoon. Double pneumonia has developed.

'Sand Hogs' Quit Work in New Tunnel as 'Bends' Increase

New York, April 10.—"Sand hogs" employed in the construction of the new vehicular tunnel under the Hudson River, who quit yesterday, refused to go to work again today.

Their refusal was in no sense a strike, according to Patrick Day, a member of the executive committee of the Compressed Air Workers of America, but was a protest against dangerous working conditions.

Day declared there had been 180 cases of "bends" this year and the workmen were alarmed when they learned that thirty-eight of their number had been taken to an emergency hospital in the previous forty-eight hours.

Clifford M. Holland, a native of Somerset, Mass., is chief engineer in charge of building the tunnel.

DAPPER 'DUKE' PAWNS 9 VACUUM CLEANERS

The "Duke of Yahama," otherwise known as Harry A. Speer and also referred to as Abraham S. Harris, is in jail as the result of his forgetfulness. The "Duke" registered at the Hotel Avery some days ago and forgot to pay his bill. Special Officer Joseph Sullivan rounded up the "Duke" today. Outside of the snappy clothing, including spats and a brown derby, the "Duke" had 15 cents and eight pawn tickets in his possession. The tickets showed the "Duke" had pawned nine vacuum cleaners in New York city. The case was postponed until Boston police communicate with New York.

PIRATE'S FACE NOT LIKE CASS', M'GRATH SAYS

It Was a "Round Pug" That Shot the Skipper of Rum Boat, Attorney Declares

It was a man with a "round pug" or "pushed in" face who shot Captain Arthur Moore of the ship Jay Scott Hankerson off Gloucester last August, if Attorney Matthew McGrath of Boston was properly informed.

Attorney McGrath so declared today in Federal Court in proceedings in which Canada seeks the extradition of Ray Cass on the charge of piracy as a sequel to the shooting on the ship. Cass has a long, thin face.

McGrath said he obtained a statement from Frank Moore, one of the ship's mates, several months after the shooting, in which the captain's assailant was described as a tall man, weighing not over 160 pounds, and with a nose much smaller than Cass'.

Sumner J. Cass of Medford, a brother of the defendant, was another state witness. Much of his testimony was in explanation of a chart showing the eastern seaboard.

The case was continued to April 21.

LIQUOR SEIZED IN WASHINGTON ST. RAID

BRADSTREET IS PAID $40,000 BY RICH WIDOW

is living at the Boston Art Club, but that prior to April 1 he was living at the Hamilton Hotel in Washington.

Under cross-examination he admitted that Mrs. Wallace was stopping at the same hotel and that they came to Boston together as the time for the court trial drew near.

Questioned about rooms at the hotel, Bradstreet said Mrs. Wallace occupied room No. 426, while his own room was No. 326.

Bradstreet's wife, formerly an actress, revealed him on the stand. She testified that at one time she attempted suicide and her husband made no effort to prevent her from killing herself with a knife other than to demonstrate that the neighbors might think he killed her.

"Did you ever assault Mr. Bradstreet?" asked Attorney Gray.

"I hit him one night," Mrs. Bradstreet answered.

"When?" "In January, 1921."

"Was he asleep?" "No; he was in bed though."

ATTEMPTED SUICIDE.

"Did you draw blood?" "No, I hit him gently."

"Gently?" "Yes, I didn't bite him hard, I couldn't."

"Did you ever attempt suicide?" "Yes."

"Didn't you just go through the form of the suicide only, by taking a knife and putting it inside your clothing?" "No. It was more than a form of suicide. I hurt myself."

"Wasn't it merely a bit of stage business on your part?" "No."

"Didn't Mr. Bradstreet run and take the knife away from you?" "No, he didn't. How'd he do it, Nosh-here will say I murdered you?"

"At another time, didn't you shut yourself in the bathroom and threaten to take poison?" "No, we had no poison in the house."

UNDER TREATMENT.

"Weren't you being treated about that time—a critical period in your life?" "Yes."

"Was not it the usual nervousness that comes with this condition that caused your excitement?" "No."

Answering a question regarding the land-holding episode in Mrs. Wallace's mansion in Rochester, N. H., testified to yesterday by Mrs. Bradstreet, witness said Mrs. Wallace had taken the initiative and had squeezed Bradstreet's hand.

Under redirect examination by her counsel, William A. Moore, Mrs. Bradstreet declared she had signed to something she believed to be untrue, when she agreed to refrain from interfering with business activities of her husband in attending to the estate of Mrs. Wallace. The agreement contained the statement, witness testified, that relations between Bradstreet and Mrs. Wallace were entirely business relations.

HARRIED OVER EXPENSES.

On one occasion, Mrs. Bradstreet quarreled with her husband over the return of expense money advanced for a trip to New York and Atlantic City, he wished her to take alone, she testified.

She stayed away for two of the designated four weeks, and then returned, because she was lonely and unhappy. Bradstreet demanded, she testified, that she refund half of the $500 expense money he gave her.

Chief's Driver Fined

Chester P. Palmer, chauffeur for Chief J. T. Nichols of the Malden Fire department, was fined $20 in the Abington court for speeding on the Hanover-Plymouth turnpike on March 20.

O'BRIEN'S OFFER SCORNED BY GOODWIN

Frank A. Goodwin, State Registrar of Motor Vehicles, today rejected an offer of District Attorney O'Brien to appoint him special district attorney to try the cases of drunken motorists and at the same time pay him $100 from his own pocket for each case he wins.

Mr. Goodwin countered with the suggestion that Mr. O'Brien go into court and try the cases himself.

NOLLE PROSS RECORD.

Mr. Goodwin said:

"District Attorney O'Brien's offer to make me an assistant district attorney is a smoke screen to hide the weakness of his office. I should say he has enough assistants now.

Thomas C. O'Brien Frank A. Goodwin

having about twice as many as his predecessors. Last year they were quite busy nolle pressing cases. Tiny nolle prossed 3,235 while the year before they only nolle prossed 731.

"Instead of inviting me to go up and do his work, I would suggest, as long as he has a number of stenographers drawing cases to try, that he try them himself, personally. He has no right to blame juries for failing to convict until he tries some cases himself.

HOW TO CONVICT.

"If he will tell any twelve Americans that can be picked in this country, that sixty-three persons were killed last year by drunken drivers, and paint a picture of the limp form of a little child being brought home to its mother, and paint the agony on the face and head of that mother, I know he will get a conviction. To say otherwise is to attack the manhood of Suffolk County.

"My criticism of his office, however, is not confined to drunken drivers. The worst man on the road is the one who hits another and leaves him bleeding by the wayside. In cases of this kind the law requires a jail sentence. A large number of these cases were settled in the lower court with sentences from one to four months. They all amounted and come after cases were settled by Mr. O'Brien by filing, nolle pressing, or changing the jail sentence to a fine. What is his excuse for that?

"There were many cases where automobiles were stolen which were placed on file or probation by Mr. O'Brien, in some cases one probation on top of another. What is his answer for that?"

AUTOIST GIVEN JAIL SENTENCE

Albert Fitzsimmons, of No. 1125 Commonwealth avenue, was given a month in jail and fined $25 in the Municipal Court today for violating traffic laws.

Patrolman Bernard Wemers testified that Fitzsimmons drove through Scollay square at a rapid rate of speed and refused to stop. When he passed a second time, the officer commandeered an auto and captured him. He was charged with driving in a reckless manner and with failure to stop when commanded to do so by an officer. He appealed both sentences.

RICH MAN OF 73 TO WED NURSE IN ATTLEBORO

C. C. Wilmarth, Sunday School Teacher, Worth $500,000, Picks Girl of 28

Romance and Charles C. Wilmarth, seventy-three-year-old retired jewelry manufacturer, thrilled Attleboro today.

Wilmarth—Sunday school teacher, possessor of a half million dollar fortune, owner of two automobiles and a mansion will marry Miss Beatrice E. Whalley, twenty-eight, Attleboro nurse.

The marriage will take place Sunday in the Murray Universalist Church, where the manufacturer has taught Sunday school for many years.

It will mark the climax of a romance begun following Miss Whalley's attendance at the death bed of Wilmarth's first wife in the Fall of 1922.

Marriage intentions were taken out and plans were laid for a wedding with no publicity.

Miss Whalley came to Attleboro three years ago from Central Falls, R. I., to continue her training as a nurse in the Sturdy Memorial Hospital. Since then she has made her home at No 28 North Main street.

In November, 1922, she was called to the Wilmarth mansion at No. 133 County street, Attleboro, to attend Mrs. Wilmarth, first wife of the manufacturer. Mrs. Wilmarth died November 27, 1922, only a few days before her golden wedding anniversary was to have been celebrated.

Seabury-Johnson Nuptials To Be Held in Emmanuel Church, Says Betty Alden

By BETTY ALDEN

ONE of the most important weddings of the season will be solemnized on May Day, when Miss Rosamond Johnson becomes the bride of Howland Seabury.

The ceremonial will draw a notable throng to Emmanuel Church, the wedding to take place at high noon.

Rosamond Johnson
(Photo by Gair)

A goodly contingent from Gotham will doubtless come over for the affair, as the bride-to-be's mother, Mrs. Wolcott Howe Johnson (Fanny Bettle) is a former Gothamite.

Mrs. Johnson and her daughter, when they are not travelling on foreign shores, generally spend much of their time at their place in the Hamilton-Wenham section.

Mr. Seabury, a Harvard '22 man, is the son of Mr. and Mrs. Frank Seabury of Beverly Farms.

APROPOS of "love, honor and obey" events, Miss Edith Blanchard has set June 21 for the date of her wedding to Henry L. Hall.

The New North Church in Hingham is to be the scene of the wedding. Mr. Hall, the son of Mrs. Henry L. Hall of Commonwealth avenue, will have as best man his brother, Frank B. Hall.

It looks very much as if the coming season would be a record one for weddings. Many of the all-important dates have already been decided upon, and others will shortly be announced.

THERE was a jolly house-party over the past week-end at the Cohasset Summer home of Dr. and Mrs. Charles J. White of Marlboro.

In the gathering were young Mr. and Mrs. David Sears 2nd (Nell White, who were married last June at Cohasset, and Richardson White, the younger son of the house.

Also in the jolly company were the older son of the house and his wife, Dr. and Mrs. James C. White (Camilla Morgan). The former is taking a course at Johns Hopkins University, and so the young people have been making their home just outside the Oriole city. They have a large house there surrounded by acres of land.

when he wants to make himself go to sleep.

"TO HIM that hath shall be given." Soldiers marched away leaving their jobs and the chance to make any of the war's "easy money." Those that had a great deal of money already made a great deal more, thanks to the soldiers that made operations safe.

NOW New York State needs $45,000,000 to pay a small bonus to New York's soldiers. The gentlemen that got rich in the war, and then opposed any bonus, now buy up the forty-five million bonds and, because they are State bonds, escape all income tax on them.

Thus to him that hath comes profit, "going and coming."

Going away the soldiers made capital safe, and coming back the soldiers provide bonds, behind which big capital protects itself from the income tax collector.

THAT LEARNED and gallant young Senator Medill McCormick of Illinois opposes Secretary Mellon's plan to cut taxes. That isn't going to help Senator McCormick in the coming election. A 25 per cent maximum income tax, if it were really collected, would supply more revenue than the most willing Congressional squanderers could scatter.

Secretary Mellon says the tax plan outlined by him would supply all the money needed. And he knows more about that than anybody else, including Senator McCormick, who in many other respects is an intelligent young man.

THE REVEREND DR. KELLMAN, back in London after preaching for five years in New York, says: "There are no misers in America. Everybody there is willing to spend money."

Nevertheless, there are misers in America, but they are "miserly about time."

Americans will give money to anybody, but will not give time, to themselves or anybody else. Miserly about time, they shorten their lives, cheat themselves, and leave the world without seeing it, or enjoying it.

America has too many time misers and time wasters. There ought to be neither.

I was sickly for seven years and finally had a nervous break-down following an operation. I am a dressmaker and milliner, and a lady I work for told me of Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound. I am taking it and it has made me well and able to do my work again. I have even helped take care of a sick neighbor recently, so you can see how fit I am. I highly praise your medicine and you may use my letter as you see fit. I hope it will help some other woman."—Mrs. OLE NORDLEIN, Box 23, Zahl, North Dakota.

Over 121,000 women have so far replied to our question, "Have you received benefit from taking Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound?" 98 per cent. of these replies answer "Yes."

This means that 98 out of every 100 women taking this medicine for ailments for which it is recommended are benefited by it. For sale by all druggists.

PLAN OF DAWES IS FACING REJECTION

France Will Make Counter-Proposal Asking for Review of All Debts

Paris, April 10.—France's alternative conditions to the acceptance of the Dawes Committee report when the latter comes up for consideration by the governments will, according to a high source here be:

1—Cancellation of the interallied debts, or,

2—Reduction of those debts to a "general level," after which the sum remaining would be assumed by Germany, the payments to be by the same methods and in the same amounts as reparations, and to commence when the latter are completed, or approximately, five years hence.

For this purpose a new "commission of experts," probably including General Dawes, will be urged, to consider the interallied debts and their relation to reparations.

BANKERS' PRESSURE.

France will make this an absolute condition of her acceptance of the recommendations, including the evacuation of the Ruhr, and tremendous pressure will be brought by international bankers to force the American government to accept such a program.

This stand is tantamount to rejection of the Dawes plan, it is firmly believed in European circles.

The publication of the Dawes report caused a great outcry by the semi-official press. Pertinax, in the Echo de Paris, said:—

"The project presented is unsatisfactory because it gives Germany the means for recommencing its evasion of 1921-22. While the experts ask us to give up the Ruhr railroads, they propose nothing to insure the safety of our troops in the Ruhr."

ASSUMPTIONS MADE.

Lucien Romier, famous economist and editor of La Journee Industrielle, declared:

"A magnificent structure, designed after classic rules of financial architecturer, but whihch cannot stand alone unless the proprietors assure a solid foundation and the tenants abstain from disorders—such is the experts' report.

"The report assumes several hypotheses including presupposing continued agreement among the allies, which was also the basis of the Treaty of Versailles and the London accord.

"A second hypothesis is that the world markets are able to absorb the huge credits provided for by international loans. The experts themselves estimate the capacity of the world for such absorption at two billion gold marks annually, which could only be augmented by the Germans subscribing themselves and which would inevitably restrict Germany's economic activity.

PROGRESS SHOWN.

"A third hypothesis is the indefinite German economic stability, which seems a daring supposition since such stability is at the mercy of the industrial and commercial exchanges of the entire world.

"However, the report indicates great progress because it constates that Germany can pay. French policy will know how to make excellent use of this feature of the report.

"Finally, the offer may be considered, but only on two conditions: that we do not leave substance for shadow, and that we be relieved of the burden of interallied debts."

British Press Says Dawes Report Is "Up to France!"

London, April 10 (I.N.S.).—There was a feeling of apprehension throughout England today over the attitude France may assume towards the Dawes reparations report. The view was openly expressed that France "can either bring European peace or future chaos."

There are indications that all British parties are ready to support Premier MacDonald if he accepts the report in behalf of England.

Opinion is general that, if France refuses, Germany will be bound to accept the Dawes plan.

Premier MacDonald is studying the report and has not yet disclosed his views. It is learned, however, that most members of the government believe the recommendations offer an extraordinarily good basis for negotiations for settlement of a problem that has been disturbing Europe for five years.

The cabinet will not act upon the report until the Inter-allied Reparations Commission at Paris has passed upon it.

Germans See "Progress" in Reparations Report

Berlin, April 10 (I.N.S.).—German government officials today began an intensive study of the Dawes report amidst a mixed atmosphere of doubt and optimism.

The press as a whole pointed out that decided progress had been made, the chief criticism being over the absence of a definite amount Germany must pay.

"General Dawes speaks a different language from General de Fouteie (commander of the Franco-Belgian forces in the Ruhr)," commented Local Anzeiger.

"The debtor has a right to know how much he owes," said the Berliner Tageblatt.

NOVEL "RESCUE"

CALLS FIREMEN TO OPEN DOOR OF HER HOME

Firemen were pressed into service when Mrs. Martha Delevsky of No. 7 Kines street, Roxbury, found herself locked out of her home while her baby was asleep in his crib.

Mrs. Delevsky had broken off her key while trying to open the door on her arrival from the store. Firemen arrived, placed a ladder against one of the windows, entered the house and opened the door, which is operated by a spring lock.

NORTH READING MURDER UNDER POLICE PROBE

Body Found in Pond Victim of Foul Play, Not a Suicide

The unidentified man whose body was found on Tuesday in Martin's Pond at North Reading, and who at first was believed to have been a suicide, was a victim of foul play.

This was the inference placed today upon the sudden decision of Medical Examiner Roscoe D. Perley to postpone an autopsy pending an interview in Cambridge with District-Attorney Arthur K. Reading.

Chief Thomas Croswell of North Reading said he was of the opinion that the man had been thrown into the lake to drown.

There were no marks of violence on the body, the chief said.

On the body of the unknown the Medical Examiner found two name-cards, a Roman Catholic prayer book on one of the flyleaves of which was written the name "Michael Riley," and a Christmas card bearing the greeting, "To Michael, from Rose and Alex."

One of the cards carries the name "Charles Garvey," with no address, while the other appears to be that of Michael Flynn, No. 22 Pitt street, Boston."

At No. 22 Pitts street, "Michael Riley" or "Michael Flynn," is not known, or is any person answering to description of the body of the man found.

The body is that of a bald-headed man, five feet in height and clean shaven. The clothing consisted of black shoes and dark blue coat.

PROBE BERGDOLL'S RIGHTS AS CITIZEN

Washington, April 10 (I.N.S.).—Secretary of Labor Davis today called upon Commissioner of Naturalization Crisp for an opinion as to whether Grover Cleveland Bergdoll has lost his American citizenship through his failure to comply with the draft law.

Crisp was asked to ascertain if Bergdoll committed any act of expatriation while within the United States, whether his act of refusal to comply with the draft requirements impaired his citizenship in any manner and whether any act he could have performed would expatriate him.

CHASE ON ROOFS IN NON-SUPPORT CASE

A chase over fire-escapes and roofs in Roxbury by Special Officer John Donovan had its sequel in Roxbury Court today when Joseph H. Hughes of No. 135 Hamilton street, Roxbury, was before Judge Palmer charged with non-support of his two-year-old child.

Hughes pleaded not guilty, and the case was continued. Mrs. Annie Crowe of Arlington, who is taking care of the child, was the complainant.

NEW YORK TO RID STATE OF QUACKS

Albany, N. Y., April 10 (I.N.S.).—Before the Assembly adjourns tonight it will have passed the bill designed to rid the State of quack doctors by requiring every physician to register with the State Educational Department at least once each year. The bill has passed the senate.

Dr. Augustus S. Downing, assistant State education commissioner, who drafted the bill, has asserted that there are at least 2,500 quack doctors now practicing in the State.

POLICE CALLED AT RUSSELL LECTURE

Veterans Stir Turmoil by Demands That Englishman Apologize for Insults

Police reserves from the Joy street station were called to Ford Hall to preserve order at a lecture by Bertrand Russell, famous English pacifist and advocate of "international communism."

Russell, younger brother and heir presumptive to the title and estates of Earl Russell, was about to begin an advertised lecture on "Science and Civilization" when young men arose in different parts of the hall with cries for an "apology."

The interrupters, who described themselves as former members of the American Expeditionary Forces, wanted Russell to take back some of the things he said about the American Army, some time prior to the advent of the United States in the World War.

In his writings for the press, at the time, Russell is declared to have expressed his disbelief in the fighting ability of the Americans.

"They are only capable of intimidating strikers," he is said to have declared, "an occupation to which they are accustomed at home."

Police Sergeant Harry Grace and two uniformed patrolmen were in the hall when the heckling started.

Five or six young men were talking at once, and there were cries and counter-cries, when Grace scented the possibility of more serious trouble and telephoned to the station house.

"Apologize!" "Take it back, you Limey!" one faction in the audience was yelling at the distinguished philosopher and mathematician, while the majority were crying for "fair play," and to "give him a chance," or else advising the interrupters to "hire a hall of your own."

There were appeals for "police! police!" when the reserves, led by Sergeant Cornelius Donovan, entered the hall and marched straight to the area in front of the platform. There was no more disorder.

Russell, who had not suggested a willingness to even consider an apology, then proceeded with the lecture he already had delivered in several cities of the United States.

COURT JAMMED AT TRIAL OF MRS. HAYES

Woman Promoter, Charged With Forging Schwab's Name, Appears Indisposed

New York, April 10 (I.N.S.).—Eight more jurors were to be selected today in the trial of Mrs. Myrtle B. Hayes, middle-aged woman promoter charged with forging the name of Charles M. Schwab, the steel magnate, as endorsement to a note for $25,000.

The courtroom was jammed with 150 talesmen, friends of Schwab, sympathizers with Mrs. Hayes and curious spectators.

Involved in the trial is the promotion of the Chatham Hotel Company of Boston, which Mrs. Hayes is alleged to have claimed was backed by Schwab. While the trial is based on one transaction, the woman is alleged to have signed Schwab's name as endorsement to papers totalling more than $300,000.

Mrs. Hayes appeared indisposed. She coughed continually, and occasionally dabbed at her face with her handkerchief. She wore a loose blue frock, a brown hat and veil, and a heavy Winter coat. Schwab was not present.

Industrial Gas and Cost Sheets

"NOBODY knows" how tired you are of trying to guess what your fuel costs will be. Only you, yourself, can most appreciate what it would mean to be relieved of this burden.

Industrial Gas will simplify your cost problems. It will give you an exact knowledge of what your fuel cost is today and will be tomorrow. You can reckon to a penny just what the fuel facts of your business are.

Gas is paid for after it is consumed. Only so much fuel as is actually concentrated on productive work is used. The fuel burned bears an exact relation to its cost because it is all utilized for known results. There is no waste. There is no sub-normal production period. Gas is 100% efficient.

Gas gives you control of fuel results and keeps fuel costs within control.

All useful fuel must be converted into gas when it is burned. All is wasted which is not gasified. You must tie up valuable space for storage of raw fuel, for the disposal of unburned residue, and for necessary operating space. You must operate a gas-making plant of your own at a variable cost dependent on many conditions both inside and outside your plant—some of which you cannot control.

Why not let us keep this dirt, soot, cinder, ash and smoke at Boston's modern gas-making plant, and deliver to your plant through gas mains a clean, efficient, ready-to-use fuel?

SHAW JUMPS ON HIS NEEDHAM CRITICS

Scores Mentality of One Who Declares Books Unfit for Children

George Bernard Shaw.

George Bernard Shaw, English dramatist and writer, comments in caustic tones on two critics of his work, both critics being residents of Needham.

During a recent political campaign, Daniel L. Smith, a Boston attorney, conducted an unsuccessful campaign for election to the School Board. Mr. Smith attacked the School Board for permitting Shaw's works to be read in the public schools, declaring them to be unfit for children.

Dr. John Torrey, Morse, Jr., historian and writer, backed up Mr. Smith's contention. Clippings of the controversy were sent Mr. Shaw and in writing to a friend, G. E. MacIlwain of Boston, Mr. Shaw attacks the mental equipment of both men.

"If Mr. Smith allows his daughter to read my books," Mr. Shaw writes, "she may retain her natural affection for him, but her veneration for his mentality will be undermined and she will lose all respect for his opinions and can laugh at them as heartily as I do."

In referring to Dr. Morse and the degree conferred upon him by Harvard, Mr. Shaw declares: "His university evidently intended to crown a historic monument." He declares he was surprised to learn that Dr. Morse "graduated from Harvard as late as 1890. I should have guessed 1780 at the latest."

BAKER BLAMES DISLOYAL MEN FOR CHARGES

Seek Revenge for Failure to Get Unmerited Promotion, He Says

Postmaster Baker, accused "from three to six unreliable, disloyal and discredited employes" who were disappointed in not being given "unmerited promotions as being responsible for the charges of questionable purchases of unclaimed parcel post packages.

Rice and purchases, he explained, consisted of a few inexpensive dolls which he sent to the Children's Hospital.

Next, he said, he bought a case of infants' underwear and sent it to the District Nursing Association of Boston.

A golf bag which he bought at about the same time in 1920, he said, proved worthless and he does not know its present whereabouts.

"The implication seems to be," said the postmaster, "that I and several others who have purchased at such auctions have done something that is dishonest. In the first place these auctions have always been conducted by outside professional auctioneers who have been paid a commission for their services by the Postoffice Department.

"I am assured by my associates here who have been accused with me that since the instructions from the Department, dated September 1, 1921, were issued, they have purchased nothing at these auctions and most certainly have not.

Haynes Says Society Supports 90 Per Cent of Bootleggers

Washington, April 10. (I.N.S.)—Ninety per cent. of the bootleggers would go out of business if the demand for their product in the higher circles of society was shut off, Federal Prohibition Commissioner Haynes declared today in an address before the Women's National Committee for Law Enforcement.

2 SLAYERS DIE TOGETHER ON SCAFFOLD

Bank Robber and Man Who Slew Fiancee Pay Penalty in Canada

London, Ont., April 10.—Ernest Sidney Murrell and Clarence Topping, convicted murderers, were hanged simultaneously in the Middlesex County jail yard today. They were pronounced dead seven minutes after the bolt was shot.

Murrell was one of several men who robbed the Home Bank at Melbourne, Ontario, in 1921 and shot Russell Campbell, a villager. He broke jail and was captured at Sarnville, Cal., last year.

Topping shot and killed his fiancee, Geraldine Durston, in 1923, after a quarrel.

Maine Lobsters on Aquitania Classed as Domestic Pets

London, April 10.—Lobsters are officially classified as domestic pets in the manifest sheet of the Aquitania. The storekeeper admitted, however, that he may have made a mistake when he so entered a hundred Maine lobsters exported to the Savoy Hotel, London.

TRAFFIC DELAYS AND ACCIDENTS COST 2 BILLIONS

Experts at Yale Suggest Remedies for Auto Fatalities and Congestion

New Haven, April 10.—Standardization of traffic regulation, more stringent supervision of drivers by licensing and examination and establishment of training courses for officers and school children were among the immediate steps necessary for reducing traffic accidents and delays, William Phelps Eno of Washington, D. C., told the traffic conference being held at Yale today.

Mr. Eno estimated that during the past year avoidable highway traffic accidents in the United States had caused 27,000 deaths, 675,000 injuries and 5,062,500 cases of property damage. Cost of traffic accidents was estimated at $1,113,750,000 and cost of traffic delays at $1,500,000,000 for the same period, a total of $2,613,750,000.

"There is no doubt," Mr. Eno said, "but that with the best talent available and proper organization it would be practical to reduce traffic accidents at least 50 per cent. and traffic delays 25 per cent. This would have saved $951,375,000 for 1923, or nearly one-quarter of the money spent to run the Federal government for 1923."

WHY I WROTE ABOUT —Putting Streets Through Common

—Giving the Soldiers Bonus

—The Teapot Dome Scandal

LARGEST INDIVIDUAL PIANO DEALER IN N. E.

J. P. COLLINS

Since writing about these subjects in my advertisement I have received numerous communications asking me why I took it upon myself to air my views in that manner, especially on the Soldiers' Bonus; and why I didn't confine myself to selling pianos, etc.

My writings were prompted by my interest as a citizen and patriotic American. My stand on the Bonus is one that every real American should take—Our Boys risked their lives "Over There" to save the Rich Man's property "Over Here."

When Our Boys sailed away they were cheered to the echo. Now when they ask for what is due them they get the echo—not much nourishment in an echo.

My idea of putting streets through the Common and Public Garden to relieve traffic and make a real business section is developing. It will bear fruit—I will write more about it later. My idea is to do something that will benefit all classes, something that will promote business. We all live by business. Think it over.

KEEP LOOKING YOUNG

It's Easy — If You Know Dr. Edwards' Olive Tablets

The secret of keeping young is to feel young—to do this you must watch your liver and bowels—there's no need of having a sallow complexion—dark rings under your eyes—pimples—a bilious look in your face—dull eyes with no sparkle. Your doctor will tell you ninety per cent. of all sickness comes from inactive bowels and liver.

Dr. Edwards, a well-known physician in Ohio, perfected a vegetable compound mixed with olive oil to act on the liver and bowels, which he gave to his patients for years.

Dr. Edwards' Olive Tablets, the substitute for calomel, are gentle in their action yet always effective. They bring about that natural buoyancy which all should enjoy by toning up the liver and clearing the system of impurities.

Dr. Edwards' Olive Tablets are known by their olive color. 15c and 30c.

CALL ON WOMEN FOR "SECOND CRUSADE"

Urged by Speakers at Law Enforcement Convention to Keep Nation "Dry"

Washington, April 10.—The women of America were called upon "to enter upon a second crusade" for prohibition by Roy A. Haynes, Federal prohibition commissioner, at the opening session today of the convention of the Woman's National Committee for Law Enforcement.

Addresses by government officials and others, a message from Secretary Hughes urging respect for all laws and a reception to the delegates at the White House marked the convention's program for today, with Mrs. Herbert Hoover presiding and Mrs. Robert Lansing acting as secretary.

The meeting is sponsored by Mrs Coolidge, Mrs. Harding, Mrs. Thomas J. Preston, Jr., widow of Grover Cleveland, and Mrs. Taft. Today's list of speakers included besides Commissioner Haynes, Mrs. Mabel

Mrs. Henry W. Peabody

Mrs. Coolidge

Walker Wilbrandt, Assistant Attorney-General; Senator Walker F. George of Georgia, Secretary of the Navy Wilbur, Kathleen Norris, novelist, and representatives if a number of women's organizations.

"All citizens," said Secretary Hughes in his message, "respect the laws they like. The test of devotion to our institutions is respect for law itself. Respect for law is quite apart from approval of particular laws. It is respect for organized society, and in a republic, for the rule of the people through representative government."

ASSUME FULL DUTIES

Commissioner Haynes told the delegates the call to a second crusade" was "not so much in the interest of prohibition, but in the interest of its enforcement, and particularly the observance of law and the Constitution of the United States."

Assuring them that "bad men are elected by good women who stay away from the polls on election day," he urged that all women assume the full responsibilities of citizenship, including jury service, and take active part in "meeting nullification propaganda."

Mrs. Wilbrandt declared "a good old-fashioned revival of devotion to the Constitution is needed now," and asserted, "Various communities have civic 'sleeping sickness.'"

"Corruption in high places is revolting," she said, "but the condition that will prove fatal to this country is lethargy in local government."

ORGANIZED STUDY.

Urging that "law enforcement and evidence collecting bureaus" be taken out of politics, she also suggested organized study by women of candidates for county, State and national offices, and that the delegates become a "positive force" to inspire obedience to law and definitely set social standards against serving liquors at parties and clubs.

Mrs. Norris described prohibition as a "new fashion in morals which she described as an issue the women "are determined to put in all parties."

Mrs. Henry W. Peabody of Beverly, Mass., president of the Northeastern district of the Women's National Foreign Missionary Society, in her keynote address as chairman of the committee, declared the convention was attended by women representing all political parties "to stick with the emphasis of the ballot that this moral issue be included in all parties, and that only men be elected who will honestly enforce all laws."

WOMAN SLAYER IS FACING OPERATION

Goshing, N. Y., April 10.—An operation may be necessary to save the life of Mrs. Anna Buzzi, confined in Sing Sing's death house, awaiting execution for the murder of Frederick Kennedier at Berea, recently, for, it was announced by the head prison physician, Dr. Amos O. Squire.

Dr. Squire said the woman had been stricken with appendicitis and was in violent pain.

BISHOP LAWRENCE ON HARVARD COMMITTEE

President Lowell of Harvard announced today the committee appointed by the corporation to raise $10,000,000 for chemical laboratories and for the Business School and the Division of Fine Arts. Rt. Rev. William Lawrence, Bishop of Massachusetts, will serve as chairman, and Wallace B. Donham, dean of the Business School, as executive chairman. Professors Paul Joseph Sachs, assistant director of the Fogg Museum, and Gregory P. Baxter, chairman of the Division of Chemistry, will be vice-chairmen. The plans call for $3,000,000 for chemistry, $5,000,000 for the Business School and $2,000,000 for the Division of Fine Arts.

MUSSOLINI'S TRIP LIKE A CONQUEROR

Rome, April 10.—Premier Mussolini's return to Rome from Milan following the elections is being turned into one long triumphal journey, enthusiastic crowds applauding him as his motor car passes on its journey. At many places special illuminations are made, and bands play patriotic airs. Carbineers were obliged to open a road for the Premier's car at Reggio Nell' Emilia when throngs of admirers pressed forward acclaiming the head of the Fascisti government.

FLETCHER FORTUNE MORE THAN $3,250,000

New York, April 10.—The late Charles H. Fletcher, president and founder of the Centaur Company, medical manufacturing concern, left a gross estate of more than $3,250,000, according to the appraisal of the state Tax Commission.

A General Description of This Furniture

Lack of space prevents a detailed description—but these general specifications will apply to every piece illustrated. Every piece offered is furniture of the highest grade, made by Grand Rapids, Mich., under the nationally recognized monogram of quality which insignia is in most cases branded upon the article. Woods described as Walnut or Mahogany in which all suites are shown, unless designated as "Solid" are of these woods in combination with other selected cabinet woods. In construction, this furniture measures up to the highest ideals of the most skilled cabinet makers, and the finish lends and not reflects the very best efforts of highly skilled craftsmen using the best materials on the market today.

Let Us Finance Your Purchase

Our financial resources are such that our Credit Department, operating as a banking institution, will gladly co-operate with those who may prefer to keep their savings intact and finance purchases out of earnings.

Note: While we have engaged, temporarily, one of the largest warehouses available, we cannot possibly house shipments as they arrive. We will, therefore, insofar as possible, fill first orders direct from cars—thus guaranteeing immediate delivery.

WILBUR LOCKS UP NAVY OIL RESERVES

No Leases Without His Personal Approval, He Writes Senator Hale

Washington, April 10 (A.P.)—Secretary of the Navy Wilbur today put a big padlock on the Navy's oil reserves.

He announced he would take personal charge of the reserve lands under control of the Navy Department and that no leases would be made without his personal approval. His policy was made known in a letter to Senator Hale of Maine, chairman of the Senate Naval Affairs Committee.

"So far as this department is concerned," Secretary Wilbur wrote to Hale, "no further leases will be made until expressly authorized by Congress, unless it appears to my satisfaction that such leases are absolutely essential to prevent the draining of oil in the reserves by wells drilled adjacent thereto and unless it further appears that such leases are fully authorized by act of Congress, and in that event such leases will be made only after competitive bidding."

Wilbur said he did not want to "a position either for or against the Pall-Denby leases to E. L. Doheny and Harry Sinclair.

201 Chiefs Sentenced to Long Terms in Colorum Riots

Manila, April 11 (A.P.)—Desire of leaders of the Colorum Society for Personal Profit was back of the Colorum disorders in Surigao Province last December which had a culmination today in heavy court sentences for 201 of the chiefs of the Colorum, according to Colonel C. H. Bowers of the Philippine constabulary.

The disorders cost the lives of about forty members of the constabulary and several hundred of the society's members. The Surigao courts sentenced three of the principals in the affair to life imprisonment and 198 others to thirty years terms in prison.

FIST FIGHT ON HOUSE OF COMMONS FLOOR

London, April 10.—Lieutenant-Colonel L. C. M. S. Amery, former First Lord of the Admiralty, and the Glasgow Laborite, George Buchanan, went home with battered faces after a lively bout on the floor of the House of Commons. The fight started just before the House adjourned, when eviction of unemployed tenants was being discussed.

SLEEPWALKER DROPS 3 FLOORS TO DEATH

New York, April 10.—Walter Kushman, twenty years old, a somnambulist, walked out of his bedroom window on the third floor early today and was instantly killed.

RUSSIANS PLAN PART IN U. S. CAMPAIGN

Communists Will Discuss Attitude of Workers' Party to the Farmers

Moscow, April 10 (I.N.S.).—Russian Communists are going to take a hand in the national campaign in the United States this year.

M. Zinoviev, head of the Leningrad Soviet and a member of the International executive committee and the forthcoming fifth International will discuss the status of the workers' party in the United States also its attitude toward the American farmers.

Further, he said the American workers' party must decide a course between the right Socialists and Communists.

Karl Radek of the Soviet government said today that the Russian delegation now in London will refuse to pay military debts, but is ready to promise payment of other debts providing Russia obtains credits.

Real 'Bald' Eagle to Scream for B. C. at Heights

An American bald eagle ... great haul with a wing spread of 10 feet, arrived last night from New Mexico to be mascot at Boston College.

Until the coming of the new live eagle, which is considered to be one of the best specimens yet seen in this section of the country, a large stuffed eagle, also a native of New Mexico, was the mascot of the Eagles of University Heights, Chestnut Hill.

The great bird came to Boston College through the interest of Rev. John E. Reisacher, S. J., a former professor at the college, now assigned to New Mexico. He also obtained the stuffed bird for the college. Both eagles were captured on a hunting trip in New Mexico.

The first bird to touch the college, some time ago, soiled like an eagle but was not. That bird took to its wings somehow and quit the eagle's nest.

Miyakawa hopes to return to his ... and ... completing his course ... Harvard ... to coach the grand old American game at one of the leading universities.

HARVARD BEATS SETON HALL, 12 TO 1

Earl Brown, phenomenal colored Harvard freshman pitcher, stepped to the fore for varsity honors and held Seton Hall College at his mercy for five innings at Soldiers Field. When the game finally broke up, the Crimson was leading, 12-1.

The victory, the second for the Crimson this season, was a costly one, however, for Percy Jenkins, whom the jinx has pursued relentlessly during his whole athletic career at Harvard was severely injured in the second inning.

Jenkins injured a small ligament in his leg when he slid into second. The injury is so serious that it will keep the sturdy boy out of play during the Southern training trip.

The game was quite colorless. The ... pitchers ... hammered the ... ing pitchers in ... early their batting averages. Lou Gordon and Tommy Cargill both hit for a thousand.

The game in the last ... before the swing around the Southern circuit. The squad will leave Saturday. The next game looms with Bates, April 23.

DELANEY, KAYO KING, AND ROBINSON IN BATTLE TONIGHT

RING RIVALS ARE FIT FOR TUSSLE AT SUFFOLK A.A.

By JACK CONWAY.

Jack Delaney, world's most sensational fighting man with the lone exception of Jack Dempsey, and George Robinson, world's colored middleweight champion, are eagerly waiting for the sound of the gong which will send them into action in their [illegible] at the Suffolk A. A. [illegible] show at Mechanics [illegible]

Jack Delaney

Jack Conway Picks Delaney, Lewis and Stasiak

Jack Conway, holder of [illegible] record for picking winners hands out the [illegible] dope on tonight's boxing and wrestling matches.

"The matchmakers are certainly serving up hours in fast order" says Jack "Anyway we'll try to name the winners. We're picking the veteran Jack Delaney to win over George Robinson.

This should be a tough battle. Robinson, one of the world's leading middleweights, has made things interesting for every man he has ever met. We are picking Delaney to win on account of his tremendous punching power.

"For the wrestling show at the Grand Opera House Stanley Stasiak looks good for another decision.

Jack has shattered all of his own amazing records so far this year by naming forty-seven winners out of a possible fifty-two.

Even the Dirtiest Pieces come clean With Only a Light Rubbing

With this new laundry soap soaking takes the place of rubbing

Those active children of yours just grind the dirt right into their playclothes! Can the dirt ever be rubbed out? That is what it used to mean to mothers—the dirt had to be rubbed out.

But today even the dirtiest pieces come clean with only a light rubbing. It is easy with Rinso to keep the children in fresh, clean playclothes—easy for you even on washday to find more time to give them.

For Rinso is a new kind of laundry soap that saves you labor and time. You are full of energy at the end of a Rinso wash and not all dragged out. Your home does not have to suffer from neglect just because it is washday!

The new kind of laundry soap

This wonderful new soap saves you the hardest work of washday. With Rinso soaking takes the place of rubbing. Just soaking in the rich, cleansing Rinso suds gets out all the dirt.

The fine, creamy white granules dissolve instantly and completely in hot water. You get a rich soapy solution with more cleansing power than bar soap—an even, rich soapiness that goes into every fiber of your clothes and gently soaks dirt out. Even ground-in dirt needs only a light rubbing.

The rinsing is easy and thorough—no bits of soap left to ruin clothes under the iron—no soil left to make them look dingy—and, of course, no harmful rubbing at any time.

Rinso is made by the makers of Lux, the largest soap-makers in the world. Made to do your family wash as perfectly as Lux does all fine things. Use it in your tubs, boiler, washing machine—it does the whole job. Get a package today—regular size or big new package—from your grocer. Lever Bros. Co., Cambridge, Mass.

Manufacturers of Famous Fabrics say:

"Rinso saves the clothes because it dissolves dirt, rinses easily and there is no hard rubbing to wear out the fabric"—

CHICKIE

The Beautiful, but Bluntly Honest Story of a Boston Girl

By ELENORE MEHERIN

Seething Life of a Lovely Boston Girl of This Strange Today

HE remembered that she said: "Jake's so kind. I can't stay home all the time, can I?"

He insisted that if she loved him she would not wish to go out with Jake.

She answered promptly: "I'd stay home forever if I thought you really cared."

And he demanded this: Now it

But he had no idea how this was going to be not when

"Make it very agreeable that I can't go to-morrow." Opie the third time I've spoken." Mary Blake sitting opposite at the lunch table, watched Chickie with shrewd, curious eyes. Seeing her drop in a dream, her pull quickened.

Oh, he brought back with a jerk from a vital laugh no face lowered to hers, frost, green slopes and birds were up and coming. Mary murmured: "It was called Stella Wilson that no long she got the high [illegible]—how dear—and had to go none. It led us all on edge. I was thinking of that."

"It's so queer. With that dazing smile on your face! Remember old thing, it's your life-long train you're testing to kid and you don't get away with it. I asked you — Mary broke off suddenly, her mouth open in surprise. "When! Where in the world did that come from, Chickie?"

Mary reached over and touched the pin in Chickie's dress—Jake's sapphires. "The cheat—"

524 VOTES ARE PLEDGED COOLIDGE

President Needs but 31 More to Clinch Nomination at Party Convention

By JOHN T. LAMBERT

Washington, April 10 (U.N.S.)—President Coolidge is today within thirty-one votes of being nominated [illegible] on a [illegible] ballot [illegible] pledged or instructed to vote for him on the first ballot. The number necessary for a choice at the [illegible] convention will be 555.

He will have that number definitely [illegible] April 22.

On the fifteenth of April, New York, which has given him eighty-four delegates will meet in convention and elect seven more, pledged to him.

Illinois, which gave him fifty-four delegates, will meet on the same day in convention and elect seven more, delegates-at-large, pledged to him.

FORBES' VIEWS ON FINANCE

By B. C. Forbes

(Mr. Forbes will be in Boston from April 21 until April 26. During that time he will fill several speaking engagements and come in close contact with New England problems of business and finances.)

Asked two of my co-workers, trained Wall Street reporters, to get short statements from the heads of the principal Stock Exchange Commission houses on how they feel about the future of the stock market. Usually, it is the easiest thing in the world to obtain expressions from brokers.

But the interviewers, after earnest and persistent efforts, report back, "nothing doing."

What does this mean?

It means that the responsible heads of firms who were approached do not have enough confidence in the outlook to warrant them in making a hopeful statement.

When heads of stock exchange firms are bullish, they are ready and eager to proclaim the fact from the house-top.

But when they are bearish, they usually prefer to say nothing.

This is not unnatural, for the great majority of those who are interested in stocks want to see the market go up, not down. The number of shorts is extremely small compared with the number of those owning stocks. Therefore, clients do not relish reading doleful predictions by their brokers.

Perhaps this extract from the confidential report made to me by the experienced financial reporters who were delegated to get the interviews will interest you and throw light on just how professional Wall Street feels about things at the moment:

"We have tried to get expressions of opinion from the brokerage house heads, but without success. Here's the truth: Quite a few of the bigger people in security circles are still actually afraid to voice optimistic opinions—under their signature. Privately at least half of them are uncertain over the outlook. One big broker, head of a Stock Exchange house, said: 'I'll talk when Washington stops talking.' That is the attitude: Watching Washington.

"The New York manager of one of the biggest wire houses in the country he doesn't want his name mentioned said: 'I am quite willing to be as bearish as I feel in talking to our clientele, but to outsiders, I don't see why I should give them the benefit of the advice and get them out of the market—perhaps to the detriment of our own customers. I don't believe in being bearish and thus perhaps assist in making things worse. Things are bad enough as they are.'

"Another one said that for publication, of course): 'The market is Republican. No matter what recent personal relationship may be, that fact remains. The outlook for the Republicans, because of the general social and international situation, is undecided—if not unfavorable. Therefore, I wouldn't want to injure their chances by appearing as being thoroughly convinced of their defeat—which I don't actually concede. However, this isn't the time to be quoted as being bearish. When I turn a bull you can quote me all over the paper."

Courteous, Prompt, Accurate Service to All Our Patrons All the Time

Save Time—Save Money

TWO sound business reasons stand behind minimum rates on telephone toll calls placed for a number and not for a name.

One is that the number call involves less work by our people. That makes it faster. And that, in turn, lets us get more work out of our wires. The saving we share with you.

The other reason is that number calls are so fast and so satisfactory that their volume steadily grows.

This is especially true of toll calls within the Providence-Worcester-Manchester radius, where local operating methods lend simplicity and speed to your service. See Page 6, Boston Directory.

For a toll call within this circle, pick up the receiver, give the number, and listen for the reply.

If you don't know the distant number, ask your local Information. From every angle, it's just like a local call.

WOOLWORTH IS OFF OVER 7 POINTS

All of the so-called "Four Horsemen" of the stock market—American Can, Studebaker, Baldwin and U. S. Steel—sold off to fresh 1924 bottoms in New York trading.

Other new lows for the year were registered in National Lead, off over 3, American Sugar common off over 2, American Sugar preferred, American Woolen off 1¾, Davison, Willys-Overland preferred, Crucible, Max well Motor A, Endicott-Johnson, Lima Locos, Chandler, du Pont, Consolidated Textile and Gulf States Steel.

WOOLWORTH GOES LOWER.

Woolworth was off over 7 points at 194, comparing with its recent high of 245.

Railroads largely moved against the bulk, displaying underlying strength. Texas & Pacific gained nearly 2 points for a new 1924 high. Norfolk & Western added a point. At the same time fractional gains showed for Union Pacific, Atchison, Rock Island, Erie, New Haven, Northern Pacific, South Railway and Southern Pacific.

Willys pfd. lowered over 5 and Fisher Body 5.

Steel reported an unfilled tonnage decrease that proved disquieting to the market. Steel was off over a point in the afternoon, as were also Studebaker, Baldwin, American Can, Bethlehem, Chandler, Cuba Cane Sugar pfd, Central Leather, Lima, Maxwell, Consolidated Textile, Punta Alegre Sugar and Sears Roebuck.

BOSTON MARKET OFF

In trading on the Boston Stock Exchange there were point or more declines for both American Sugar, Swift, Woolen, Boston & Maine Class D and common and Rutland pfd. Ventures oil rose over a point.

In the New York bond market foreign government obligations pointed upward. Queensbury, Czecho-Slovakia and French municipal issues scored fractional gains. Nor folk & Western convertible 4s after early strength fell back when stock holders failed to take any action on a proposed loan to the Pennsylvania Railroad, and other speculative fail mortgages lost ground.

Treasury 4½s repeated their 1924 high price.

Wall St. Gossip

Replies to Investors

BOSTON INSURANCE CO.

To A. B. B.—Boston Insurance Company occupies a strange position nowadays. It is so closely held that I believe none of it is offered for sale at this time. If I hear of any that is for sale I will let you know.

"TO BE LISTED."

To I. R. I.—When someone tries to sell you a stock and tells you it is to be listed on the New York or Boston Stock Exchange, it will be well to investigate. Stock exchanges are today powerless to protect themselves against claims by fraudulent stock promoters that their shares will be listed. Few stocks are listed and are able to give any guarantee that they will be. If a reliable broker tells you a stock is going to be listed, that is, of course, a horse of another color.

AMERICAN METAL.

To H. Y. T.—American Metal Company, Ltd., is a holding company, owning or controlling a number of subsidiary companies engaged in the production, refining and distribution of electrolytic copper, zinc, lead, silver and other metals; also coal mining, production of sulphuric acid, etc. There is $5,000,000 preferred stock of $100 par value and 520,000 shares of no par common outstanding. Cerro de Pasco Copper owns 50,000 shares of the common stock of this company. Dividends are paid at the rate of $3 a year are being paid to common stockholders. Shares are listed on the New York Stock Exchange and a fairly good market is maintained for them. Absence of manipulation accounts for their inactivity.

GROUP LACKS BALANCE.

To R. D.—Each of the bonds you have selected for the investment of part of this $25,000 has been recommended frequently in this column for conservative investment. We can find no fault with these suggestions individually, but as a group the list is lacking in balance. Substitute another electric power bond for one of the industrial issues. Our suggestion is Kansas Gas & Electric Light 6s, 1952, yielding 5.7 per cent., or the American Sugar Refining 6s or Tobacco Products 6½s. There is no stock on this list that is much to your friend's circumstances should hesitate to buy.

ROCKLAND & ROCKPORT.

To G. S. E.—Listed on the Boston Stock Exchange. Rockland & Rockport Lime Corporation, incorporated under the laws of Maine, filed with the Massachusetts Commissioner of Corporations a statement of its financial condition, dated December 1, 1923, which compares:

ASSETS	1923	1922
real estate	$2,208,962	$2,231,556
machinery, etc.	1,258,586	1,253,050

cash and Mis. receivable	461,659	301,102
investments	34,370	453,147
other assets	4,961	5,000
stks. etc.	8,351	6,842
new construction	107,760	372,500
exp los & def chgs.	31,911	64,000
Total	3,506,453	3,956,851
LIABILITIES
capital stock	2,331,875	2,331,875
accts payable	146,152	274,720
accrd. debts	275,000	400,000
notes payable		25,000
reserves	50,288	47,256
surplus	536,138	334,845
Total	3,291,453	3,956,851

BONDS FOR $10,000.

To I. R. A.—We suggest that you consider, for the $10,000, Kennecott copper 7s, 1930, yielding about 6½ per cent.; Federal Sugar 6s, 1938, yielding 5.5 per cent., and Aluminum Company of America 7s, 1933, yielding 6.1 per cent.

PREFERRED RAILS.

To O. E. R.—There is no danger in withdrawing funds from the savings bank if they are to be invested in the kind of securities you already hold. Two railroad preferred stocks which compare favorably with Atchison preferred are Southern Pacific, paying 4 per cent., and Norfolk & Western, paying 4 per cent. Take one of these stocks for part of your new investment and some of the remainder for Northern States Power 6s and American Smelting 6s.

NO CHANGE.

To J. I.—There is no apparent need for making any change in your present holdings. Cuban American Sugar 8s are redeemable on an interest date at 107½. Republic Steel's interest payment has not an unbroken record. As recently as 1922 the dividend was passed, but in every instance where dividends have been suspended the company has subsequently cleared up all accumulation without allowing the amount to become too great. There would be nothing to the preferred stock holders after the April 1 extra payment. This is a reasonably sound stock for personal investment, but is not quite as able where short term securities are called for.

FOR OLD AGE.

To B. L.—In building up an investment on which one may depend for income in old age it is wise to lay a firm foundation. After this is accomplished it is permissible to assume some additional risks in return for the higher yield to be obtained. Your American Telephone & Telegraph bond and stock would be a good start for the kind of foundation you should have. The addition of a strong industrial and one or two good public utility bonds would be the next logical step.

GOOD BONDS.

To M. A. R.—The following bonds will meet your requirements: New York Central 5s, 2013; Carolina, Clinchfield and Ohio 6s, 1938; Virginian Railway 5s, 1962; Louisville & Nashville 5s, 1921; Minnesota Power 5s, 1943; Niagara Falls Power 5s, 1932; Milwaukee Electric Railway & Light 5s, 1926; Philadelphia Company 6s, 1944; Corn Products Refining 5s, 1931; Indiana Steel 5s, 1942; Liggett & Myers Tobacco 5s, 1951, and Westinghouse Electric & Manufacturing 7s, 1931.

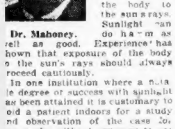
HOW TO KEEP WELL

By DR. F. X. MAHONEY,
Boston Health Commissioner.

There is increasing evidence of the beneficial and often remarkable effects of direct sunlight in tuberculosis infections, ulcers and various other pathological conditions. It is to be borne in mind, however, that sunlight does not mean indiscriminate exposure of the body to the sun rays. Sunlight can do harm as well as good. Experience has shown that exposure of the body to the sun's rays should always proceed cautiously.



Dr. Mahoney.

In one institution where a certain degree of success with sunlight has been attained it is customary to add a patient indoors for a study and observation of the case. Two weeks without exposure to the sun at all, and proceed cautiously with exposure to the sun's rays, being each day the area of the body exposed and the duration of the exposure modified.

Bodily temperature is carefully watched, and a tendency for it to increase under exposure is regarded as an indication that exposure is being overdone.

Treatment is discontinued at least one half hour before meals and not resumed until more than one hour after meals. In hot Sun most weather 15 minutes is continued during the middle of the day. During treatment the top of the patient's head is protected from the sun's rays. The body is always sheltered from the wind or draughts. A total of four hours treatment daily is usually regarded as the maximum.

QUESTIONS ANSWERED.

I have been troubled with acne (pimples) on the face for four years. I am now twenty-two. They go and come about in the same place and have little scars or holes in my skin. I have tried hospital treatment but to no good practically at all. The only thing that did help me was the ultraviolet light in the City Hospital but after a while they came again. I would appreciate it very much if you can give me some advice to get rid of them and the little scars. How about yeast cakes? Thanking you.

Treatment does help but I think that the treatment at the hospital ought to be kept up. Then the prospects there could be much better.

Please tell me the symptoms of a kidney stone. Is the pain in all in the right side? And does on the left side? How do symptoms of enlarged stomach differ from fallen one? I have sore strained feelings on right side of my back. I was on ten years ago for abscess on appendix and now at times have pain in region of appendix. I injured my stomach from drinking cold water when overheated.

A. D. P.

Indigestion, constipation, considerable gas, loss of appetite, might be due to a stone in the kidney or in the stomach. The bad feelings may be somewhere near the appendix on the right side. Your pains may be due to adhesions from previous operation.

Will a blood test show if you have Bright's Disease or not? Are prunes or other fruits good for Bright's Disease?

M. T. S.

Bright's Disease can be determined by the examination of the urine, not the blood. Prunes and raisins are not harmful in Bright's Disease.

What is the length of time for scarlet fever quarantine?

The minimum quarantine for scarlet fever is four weeks but it may be carried on for months, if the patient in the doctor's or hospital's opinion, would be a dangerous contact either on account of the persons he were likely on account of discharges from nose or ears.

For Expectant Mother

Editor Helping Hand:

I have quite a few things for an expectant mother. They would be best for a baby born about September or so. If you have any one who would like a few dresses for a little girl about a year or a year and a half, send both addresses to me, and I will be glad to send the things to them.

MRS. L. B

Thank you. We looked for a September baby, but couldn't find one in our files, so we are sending you the address of Mrs. A., who expects the stork a little sooner. Mrs. M. B., whose address we sent, will appreciate the little girl's things.

Asks Aid for Boys

Editor Helping Hand:

I am alone with three boys to support, and it is very hard for me. If any of your kind friends wish to help me I would be so thankful. I would be glad of any clothes or shoes. My boys are eight, seven and six, and I take size 16. I will wait patiently. I can sew and make things over.

MRS. B. G.

Offers Baby Clothes

Editor Helping Hand:

I have some infants' clothing and also a coat and a few dresses that would fit a girl of fifteen or sixteen. They can call for them if they wish.

MRS. J. F. O'G.

Thank you. We have been sent the address of Mae, a fifteen-year-old girl with a six-weeks-old baby brother, both in need of clothing. We have written them, asking them to call at your home.

The Editor's Thanks

The editor wishes to express her sincere appreciation to the following people for their generous offers of assistance to those in need. They have been sent the addresses requested.

Plain Facts About the Bonus and the Mellon Tax Bill

O IT'S Tommy this an' Tommy that, an' "Tommy go away,"
But it's "Thank You, Mister Atkins," when the band begins to play,
The band begins to play, my boys, the band begins to play,
O it's "Thank you, Mr. Atkins," when the band begins to play.

THAT Is one verse of Mr. Rudyard Kipling's immortal "Tommy Atkins."

It tells the story of the British soldier, returned from the Boer War to find out that the folks at home, who had shouted so loud for him when he marched off to war, had forgotten all about him when he returned.

Whatever else can be said of England, she has not forgotten her soldiers this time. Her gratitude is testified by the hundreds of millions that she annually expends for the widows, the orphans, the maimed and helpless victims of this war, and in the further hundreds of millions she expends in unemployment allowances to the war veterans suffering under the trade depression that followed the conflict.

England, of course, gave a bonus to its returning soldiers, as testimony of the Empire's gratitude. No one contended that the bonus pauperized the British war veterans or commercialized their patriotism. No one said this of the bonus that France paid its soldiers, the bonus that Italy paid its soldiers, the bonus that Australia paid its soldiers, or the bonus that Canada paid its soldiers.

ONLY in the United States do we hear the strange contention that a bonus given the soldiers will destroy their self-respect and undermine the patriotic foundations of the republic.

The bonus hasn't had this effect in England nor France, nor Canada, nor Australia, nor Italy. In all of these countries patriotism is sufficiently alive, to say the least. In some of them the soldiers are not only willing to fight, but too anxious to fight.

And only in this prosperous land do we hear the strange contention that the government cannot AFFORD to pay the bonus, and that national prosperity will evaporate if it is paid.

Every other one of the victorious nations in the war has figured that it could afford to pay the bonus. Only in the United States, the richest and most solvent nation in the world, is it contended that the cost is too high.

What are the honest, plain, simple facts?

Well, the simple facts are that the genius of the Secretary of the Treasury, Andrew W. Mellon, has put the United States in such a sound financial condition that it can pay the bonus, and, financially speaking, never know it has had to pay it.

THE United States Treasury at the present time is taking in one million dollars a day more than required for its expenses. At the time the last computations were made, the excess revenues of the current fiscal year were estimated at three hundred and thirty million dollars. They are actually running higher.

Now one of the difficult problems of Congress is to agree upon the PRECISE METHOD of reducing taxation, so that the Treasury will not continue to take in more money than we need.

It is a contradiction in terms when anyone speaks of such a country as being impoverished and unable to pay its soldiers a bonus, as the other leading nations have paid.

How much would this bonus cost? Well, every soldier is to be presented with a twenty-year endowment insurance policy. He will get the money twenty years from now, if he is alive. If he dies in the meantime, his dependents or heirs will get it. The amount varies, according with the length of service at home, and up to nineteen hundred dollars for veterans who saw service abroad.

This bonus will cost the country, the first year, one hundred and thirty-five million dollars, and less each succeeding year.

SECRETARY MELLON proposes a tax cut plan under which we could reduce taxation by THREE HUNDRED MILLION DOLLARS and still have enough revenue for the bonus.

Secretary Mellon's tax reduction plan proposes to cut the surtax on large incomes from the present fifty per cent. to twenty-five per cent. He does this not in the interest of the rich man, but in the interest of getting more money out of him. His Treasury experts have calculated that the actual revenue received from income surtaxes, under this LOWER RATE, will be one hundred million dollars more than we get from surtaxes at the present time. This is because money of rich men will leave tax-exempt securities and be put into productive business where it can be taxed.

In other words, if the entire Mellon tax-cut program went through, relieving us from the three hundred odd millions of excess revenue we are now paying, IT WOULD PRODUCE A WHOLLY UNEXPECTED ADDITIONAL REVENUE FROM SURTAXES OF A HUNDRED MILLION DOLLARS, AVAILABLE FOR THE BONUS.

The millions of American Legion men throughout the country are watching the Senate with uncommon interest, waiting for it to pass the insurance certificate bonus plan that has already gone through the House. "Tommy ain't no bloomin' fool—you bet that Tommy sees"——

For it's Tommy this and Tommy that, an' "Chuck him out, the brute!"
But it's "Saviour of 'is country when the guns begin to shoot;
An' it's Tommy this and Tommy that, an' anything you please;
But Tommy ain't no bloomin' fool—you bet that Tommy sees.

DR. FRANK CRANE ON ROBIN HOOD IDEA OF TAXATION

By DR. FRANK CRANE

THE present system of taxation, in every country in the world, is probably the best evidence of the exceedingly small distance Mankind has traveled along the path of evolution.

The rotten principle that underlies and vitiates all taxation is the theory that taxes should be levied principally upon the rich and that the poor should be spared.

That is one of those specious theories that, upon its face, has the appearance of justice, but in the end works out into injustice, invariably.

Its one excuse is the same excuse which was put forward by Robin Hood, the famous bandit. His apology was that he only took from the rich and gave to the poor.

But what he and his admirers failed to see is that robbery of any kind is wrong. It may not seem so bad to steal a diamond necklace from a Duchess as to snatch a penny from a newsboy but, taken as a principle governing society, both sets are equally wrong.

The Income Tax Law, and other tax laws which seek to mulct rich people in order to carry on the government, are fundamentally wrong for the simple reason that the purpose of taxation is not to equalize incomes but to pay the expenses of the State.

The business of getting all incomes as near as possible down to the same level is not the business of government. The size of incomes is governed by natural laws. To attempt to interfere with those laws by artificial means is to cut the nerve of business enterprises, to discourage thrift, and eventually to reduce a prosperous country like the United States to the peasant grade of Russia.

All talk of passing a just and equitable income tax law is nonsense. There can be no just law equalizing robbery.

A tax on land values would be logical and equitable. It would make those people pay toward the upkeep of society who had been most profited by the benefit of society.

Also a Sales Tax would be a fair and honest way to collect sufficient funds to carry on the government. It would not be vitiated by any notion that every rich man was a quasi criminal and every poor man ought to be coddled.

It would bear fairly upon every spender of money in proportion to the amount he spent.

The heart of the Income Tax, Surtax, and Excess Tax idea is Bolshevistic.

These taxes proceed from that idea whose sire is Ignorance and whose dam is Envy; the idea that the man who denies himself, saves his money and accumulates a little capital, ought to be pilloried and the man who has enterprise and business capacity and earns a large salary and lays up a fortune ought to be penalized for so doing.

And, furthermore, that the lazy and incompetent should be exempt from public responsibility or any share of the public burden.

The prosperity of every country depends upon the number of people in it who are thrifty and the number of those who are capable and energetic in business. Any law that penalizes this class, that finds them and harasses them because they have dared to exercise the most necessary human traits in a State, is an unjust law.

In the national House of Representatives the decent thing to do, if they are going to continue with the present program is to set up a statue to Robin Hood and require every Congressman to waft incense before it as he enters the halls of "justice."

Expects Stork

Editor Helping Hand:

My husband has died since I wrote to you before. He was a World War veteran. I didn't have any insurance, as he went away to France with the Canadians. I am expecting the stork in July or August, and I have no means of getting anything ready. I would be very thankful for any baby clothes or anything for the other children, ages nine, ten and one year. Also myself, size 40 or 42 and 5 shoe. I can make things over and dye any colored things that I get, so long as they cover. I wish I could get a stroller, as my baby is too heavy for me to carry in my condition. I will have to go to work as soon as my trouble is over and pay my husband's undertaker bill and other bills. The children both take size 13 shoe.

MRS. G. M. L.

Met With Accident

Editor Helping Hand:

About eight weeks ago I met with an accident, which resulted in receiving a severe scalp wound, abrasions to my left side and a broken arm. Being a young man, married, but without parents, brothers or sisters, I appeal to some young man who might have something left over in clothes. I am now sufficiently recovered from injuries to resume work, yet have nothing to wear. I am twenty-eight years of age, about five feet nine inches and of medium build. I would be grateful to receive an old suit, about 33 or 34; a shirt or two, size 15; some underwear, 34. Practically anything a young man wears would be greatly appreciated, so that I might look for work neatly clad.

Coat for Bernice

Editor Helping Hand:

Please send me the address of the young girl who signs herself Rita, as I have a coat and a few things I could send her by parcel post. If she has been supplied, send some other girl about fifteen or sixteen years old.

MRS. G. D. H.

Thank you. As Rita has had a very generous response to her appeal, we are sending you the address of Bernice, who takes the same size.

Coat and Dresses

Editor Helping Hand:

If you will send me the address of some person in need of clothing I will gladly forward some things which I have. They are such things as Spring coat, size 36 or 38; four dresses, same size; two blouses and one waist.

MRS. A. N.

Thank you. We are sending the address of Mrs. M. K. W., whose husband has been hurt and consequently is not working.

High Surtaxes Cripple Business Enterprise

By Otto H. Kahn

TAXES must be paid in cash. You cannot pay them by turning over to the Government book assets or bills receivable or inventories. But, while the outgo in taxes is all cash, the income of most business is cash only to a limited extent.

Business men of necessity have only a limited amount of capital in the form of liquid or quickly realizable assets. They are vital for the correct and safe conduct of business, and it is just these assets which are absorbed by surtaxes.

In fact, one of the most unsettling and in the long run most perilous influences of excessive surtaxes is the unique and illregulated drain of cash away from its normals of channels impended by the government.

It is frequently said that what is accomplished by our high surtaxes is simply a dislocation of redistribution of funds and nothing more.

THE money taken by these taxes does not vanish, so it is contended. It is merely taken out of the bulging pockets of the rich and put into general circulation and again through being expended by bthe Government.

Firstly, as I have pointed out before, money in the hands of the Government cannot possibly be anywhere, nearly so active, dynamic, nurturing and productive as in the hands of individuals. There are many reasons for this all too well attested fact, especially in a republic.

Secondly, it is one of the functions, indeed of one the implied duties, of capital in the hands of the well-to-do to take business risks and to further new enterprises.

MUCH of the largest part of the nation's liquid capital is owned by those of small and moderate means, either in the shape of investments or through deposits in savings banks, fraternal organization, life insurance companies and kindred institutions.

These funds are not, generally speaking, and ought not to be, available for starting and financing new and untried undertakings.

The capital which can afford to take, has an incentive to take, ought to take, and prior to the enactment of our present tax policy did take, the risk inevitably connected with new ventures and the task of financing the pioneer work of the country, is that relatively moderate percentage of the nation's total liquid resources which is represented by the valuable funds of corporations and well-to-do individuals.

THE capacity and readiness of capital to undertake that function and fulfill that task has been woefully crippled by the existing surtaxes, both because they have gone far to make the accumulation of liquid funds impossible and because they have very largely impaired the incentive to venturing and risk-taking.

Moulton Feels the Onus of a Long-Delinquent Bonus

By Roy K. Moulton

Copyright, 1924, Star Co.

WELL perhaps you remember the ruckus that went and broke out about ten years ago all over the face of Europe like the German measles and all the men with the hoe and dumb brothers of the ox were told to get out and shoot at each other to make a Hohenzollern-Hapsburg holiday.

If you do not remember this ckirmish, I will ask you to look at your last income tax receipt. Jolly little reminder, what?

I could not attend this war personally, as the doctor told me that the least ailment I had would keep three men at home. But I was one of the greatest sidewalk soldiers in town and I stood alongside of bankers and great business men and cheered as the boys marched by. Gosh! How bankers can cheer when there is a war in sight!

One day, when the 69th departed, I walked by the side of a fine little regiment of mine by the name of Johnny Carey, who was head bellhop at the Elks Club, where I was living temporarily. Johnny had broken out with that war fever about one minute after Wilson had pulled the plug out of our neutrality.

Johnny was a small chap and had a hard time getting by the gate and I shall always believe that he practically through the pickets. Johnny had been a bellhop, and a good one, for many years, and as I bade him goodby, and the brave lad shed a few Irish tears, he said to me:

"I have no rilatives at all—at all, but I have saved up $6,000 which will go to charity if I do not come back."

Johnny did not come back. He will never come back.

Nowadays, when I think of my income tax, which peanut politicians refuse to reduce to livable size, and I think of it very frequently, I also think of Johnny Carey and of his lifetime savings which he gave to charity. It seems to me Johnny would be a poor politician. He would always want to be helping somebody who needed help. The whole story of the war to me is the story of Johnny Cary. Big-hearted, generous Johnny Carey has always been to me the American soldier. He gave all he had.

As a matter of fact, I can sit and look at my income tax blank and think of many things. I can also think of a few things when I pay a tax on a theatre ticket or innumerable other things.

I wonder whether we are paying for the last war as rapidly as we should.

Then I wonder where all this money goes. This is a free country, you know. You can wonder all you like. And if you want to keep on wondering there is no law to prevent.

Being only a taxpayer and not a politician, I must remain considerably in the dark.

However, I do read the newspapers and get an occasional peep into the congressional pork barrel. I see where vast sums of money are appropriated to widen and deepen Swazey Creek in Michigan, to make navigable for cowboats the majestic Skunk River in Georgia, to enforce oblongions laws upon unwilling taxpayers.

We seem to have a great deal of boodle to spend, even after the billions we have squandered abroad. We increase the salaries of government time servers and one person in every seventh of our population now works for the government. We plan nonsensical gasbag trips to the North Pole.

We place government smokeboats at the disposal of congressional junkets to Japan or Timbuctoo, including relatives and friends.

When we can think of no other way to get rid of our stuff, we blow up twenty-five or thirty million dollars worth of battleships in one day because the battleships are obsolete. The hot-water faucet in the captain's cabin leaks or the whistle rope is broken.

But we must have more money, so the Senate Tax Committee slaps a 10 per cent. levy on every dinky little radio set in the country.

Oh, it's a grand party we are having. Everybody invited except the taxpayers and the soldiers.

When we want to do something fine for the maimed and broken man who stood between the bankers and shrimp politicians and possible destruction, we treat them to a free phonograph concert or a Thanksgiving dinner.

I wonder what Johnny Carey, the poor little alien who gave away every cent he had and then gave his life to the country he loved, would think of this phantasmagoria of gratitude?

As I said before, there is no law against wondering.

THE VOICE OF NEW ENGLAND

No Attention Paid to Anonymous Communications

From Longshoremen

Editor, Boston American:

The Longshoremen's District Council of the Port of Boston denounce the remarks of Dr. Frank Crane in the columns of the Boston American of March 13, in which he maligned the longshoremen, in comparison with school teachers, by stating longshoremen take the country by the throat and secure what they want by violence.

We wish to state that the longshoremen of this port made better patriotic citizens than he during the war when they worked day and night, with loss of sleep, to get the cargoes and the boys over to fight for our country and flag.

During the whole war the longshoremen never looked for or made any demands for any increase of wages, and that in itself showed how much we took the country by the throat to get what we wanted by violence.

If Dr. Crane wants to know how much longshoremen thought of their country, by making no demands for any increase, let him communicate with Mr. Ripley of the National Adjustment Commission of Washington, D. C., and better still, with the U. S. Shipping Board and also the steamship agents. They will advise him of their dealings with the longshoremen.

ONCE-OVERS

DON'T DODGE JOBS ABOUT THE HOUSE

What is wrong with your house?

Not the same degree of peace and rest and satisfaction as in other homes you know about?

You keep wondering what is the trouble.

But the fact that you so often leave undone any little job you may have about the house is one cause of annoyance to your family.

Do you not constantly make excuses for avoiding the jobs around home which you know you should do?

How can you expect other members of your family to have a more intense interest in the home when you apparently have more interest in the things needed to appease your pride or add to your comfort?

How often do you voluntarily do something for the sake of the joy it will give to members of your household, if the accomplishment does not bring much satisfaction to you?

Are you not actually selfish about your home?

Get busy with that saw and hammer, clean the basement, fix that window so it will not rattle and attend to those other little duties you should look after.
